

Essays & Journals

How do I search for a journal?

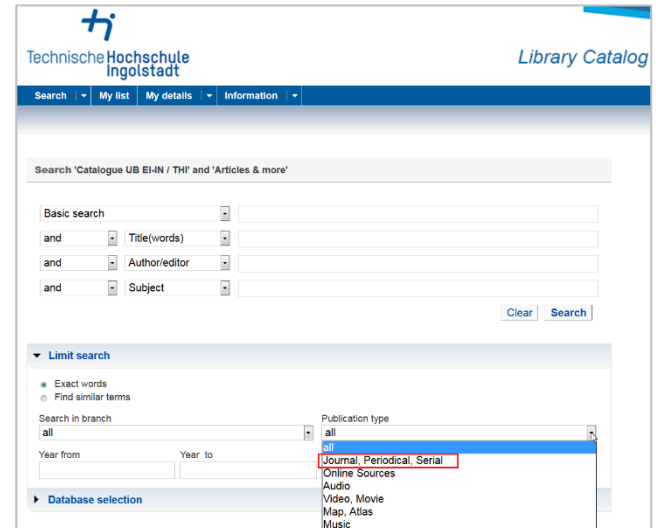

- In the catalog, you can search for printed journals, as well as E-journals.
- Open the catalog and use the Limit Search tab to restrict the form of publication to Journal, Periodical, Serial.
- Enter the title of the journal in the Basic search.
- In the result list, the icons tell you whether the journal is printed or electronic.

How can I access essays in printed journals?

- Make sure that the volume you need is available in the library.
- The shelf mark tells you where you can find the journal in the reading room (92/...).
- Journals cannot be borrowed.

How can I access essays in E-journals?

- In the result list, click on the icon for the journal you want.
- You will be led to the Electronic Journals Library (EZB). There are volumes displayed, which the library of the Technische Hochschule Ingolstadt has licensed.
- The link next to Online Availability leads to the provider of the electronic journal.
- Navigation differs between the various providers. In each case, you have to select the volume and issue you need in order to access the essay.
- The traffic light icons show the availability of full texts.
- Media licensed by the library of the Technische Hochschule can only be accessed from campus network.
- Members of THI have the option to access it off-campus via EZproxy.

Browsing the EZB

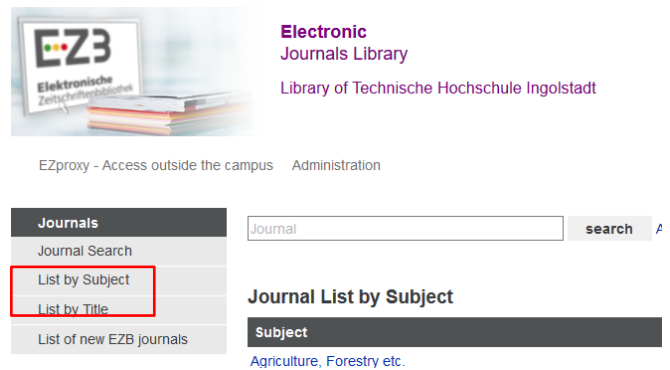

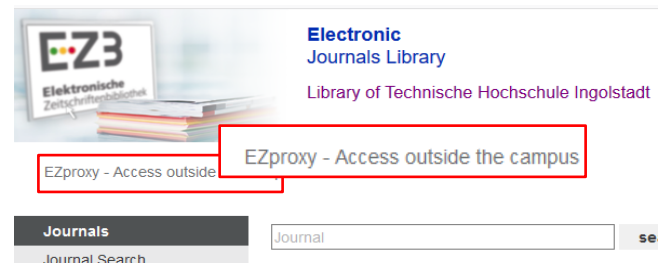

- The Electronic Journals Library (EZB) gives you an overview of all electronic journals available at THI.
- You can access the EZB via the library homepage. Choose Information Resources → Databases → Journals and Newspapers → Electronic Journals Library.
- You can search the journals by subject or alphabet.

Notes

- Important: The catalog tab Articles & more only contains a small amount of individual essays and articles. To search in the entire library supply, always type in the title of the journal itself or use the Electronic Journals Library (EZB).
- If you are looking for essays on a specific topic, please make use of the relevant databases.
- You will find our databases on the library website: <http://www.thi.de/en/service/university-library/information-resources/databases.html>.
