

Perinorm

Standards

What can I find in Perinorm?

- In the database, you can look for information on german and international standards and guidelines.
- VDI, DIN, DIN EN and DIN ISO standards are included in full text.

How do I access Perinorm?

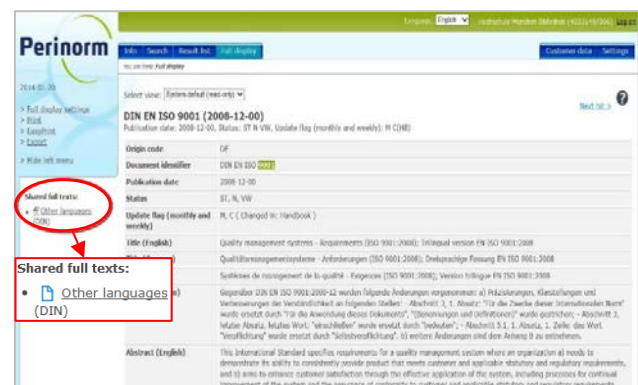

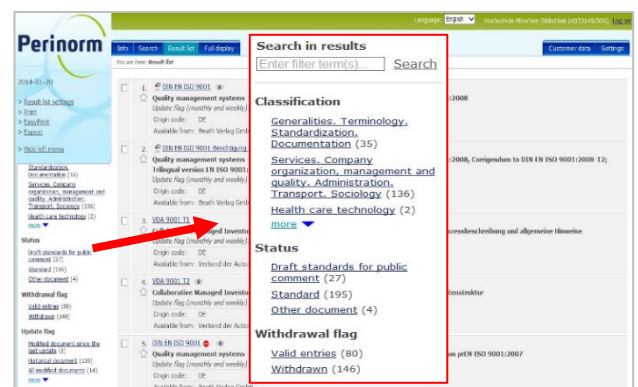

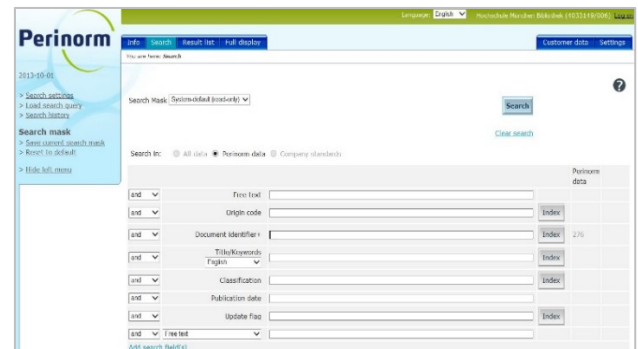

- Go to the library's website:
<http://www.thi.de/service/bibliothek/informationsquelle/n/datenbanken.html>
- Select Patents and Standards → Perinorm.

Search/result list

- In addition to free search, you can search directly for the standard number or search thematically using the classification.
- You have the possibility of limiting the result list by using filters.
- You can access the full text by clicking on the  button or via the link on the left-hand side of the display of individual results.

Tips

- Bear in mind that a plug-in must be installed to display full texts.
- Use the  button for further explanations on using the database.
- Only THI members are allowed to print out or save standards.
- You can look at VDE standards on a single workstation in the foyer of the library.
- Individual standards cannot be ordered via the interlibrary loan system. You can suggest a standard for purchase at <https://www.thi.de/en/service/university-library/order-suggestion/>
